Introduction

The English textbook for secondary schools is the sixth in a series of seven textbooks which are currently developed to respond to the new policy of the Ministry of Education and Sports on the reform of general education from 11 years to 12 years. Upon the new educational reform, the Ministry of Education has decided to add another year to the secondary school program in the academic year 2009-2010. To implement the new policy, the Foreign Language Resource Centre at the Research Institute for Educational Sciences in cooperation with the Faculty of Letters at the National University of Laos have formed a team to develop the curriculum and write the textbook with a teacher's guide through financial support of the Basic Education Sector Development Project (BESDP).

Along with the textbook, the teacher's guide has also been provided in order to help with more effective teaching. The teacher's guide includes teaching techniques for each step of the lessons. There are also some instructions on how to use teaching aids and some suggestions for teachers and students on how to create teaching aids for their own classes.

However, the textbook is produced under the time pressure; therefore, some minor errors could not be avoided. The Foreign Language Resource Centre highly appreciates all comments and suggestions from readers and these are considered as a great contribution to the quality assurance of the textbook as well as to the development of the Lao National Education. The Research Institute for Educational Sciences avails itself of this opportunity to express its sincere thanks to all contributors.

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

3. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher, then practise the dialogue in pairs.

Manotham is attending a Young Scientists Conference in Malaysia.

Here he meets Samy, a student from Singapore.

Manotham: Hello, my name is Manotham. I'm from Laos.

Samy: Hi, I'm Samy. I'm from Singapore. Nice to meet you.

Manotham: Nice to meet you too.

Samy: Manotham, I'm very interested in education systems in Laos. Can I ask you?

Manotham: Yes, of course. What can I help you?

Samy: At what age do children start school in your country?

Manotham: If they attend pre-school, they normally start at the age of three.

Samy: How long does it take for primary and secondary school?

Manotham: Five years for primary school and seven years for secondary school.

Samy: Oh, very interesting. After secondary school, where do students continue their study?

Manotham: At the university, vocational or technical schools, but they have to take entrance examinations first for all institutions.

Samy: Oh, really? Thank you very much for your interesting information.

Manotham: You're welcome.

4. Read and answer

Read the dialogue again and answer true(T) or false (F). If it is false, give the correct answer. The first one has been done for you.

1. Manotham is in Laos now. F (He is in Malaysia).
2. He is attending a workshop. _____
3. It takes more than 5 years for primary school in Laos. _____
4. Most children start pre-school at the age of three. _____
5. There is no university in Laos. _____
6. Samy is Malaysian. _____
7. It takes longer to study at primary school than at secondary school. _____

5. Pre-reading

Think about these questions. Discuss your answers with your classmates.

1. Before going to primary school, did you attend pre-school?
2. What did you learn at pre- school?
3. Do you still remember the subjects that you studied at primary school?

5. What was your favourite subject?
6. What is your most favourite subject now? Why do you like it?

6. Match

Match the words with their meanings

7. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

General education in Laos

General education in Laos consists of pre-school, primary school and secondary school. Most children in Laos start their education at about three years old. pre-school takes three years to prepare children for primary school. Children study at primary school from about six to eleven years old- a total of five years. Primary education is compulsory in Laos. After finishing primary school, they go to secondary school, which takes seven years to finish- four years for lower secondary school and three years for upper secondary school. Normally, students complete their general education at the age of about eighteen. Students who pass the final exam in secondary school receive the secondary school certificate.

Students who pass the entrance examination can continue their education after secondary school. The highest level of education is university- this takes four to six years. Students who do not want to go to university can go to vocational or technical schools, which take three years. Another option is vocational hands-on training for a particular job.

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

3. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher, then practise the dialogue in pairs.

Bouth and Teng both work for the same company. They meet in the canteen.

Bouth: Hello, Teng. How are you?

Teng: Fine, thanks. And you?

Bouth: I'm fine. How's your work?

Teng: It's OK at the moment, but I think I might have problems later.

Bouth: Why?

Teng: Well, I have to analyze all the statistics from the provinces, and it's too difficult for me.

Bouth: Oh, I see. How was your maths when you were at school?

Teng: I wasn't very good at maths. I wish I had studied harder. I see how important maths is now.

Bouth: What subjects did you like when you were at school?

Teng: I really enjoyed studying French.

Bouth: I don't know any French. I wish I'd studied it.

Teng: So, what was your favorite subject?

Bouth: Maths. I was very good at maths when I was at school.

Teng: That's great! You could help me to solve my problems, couldn't you?

Bouth: Sure. I'd be glad.

4. Read and answer

Read the dialogue again and answer true (T) or false (F). If it is false, give the correct answer. The first one has been done for you.

Example:

Bouth and Teng are friends. ___ T ___

1. Bouth and Teng are students. _____
2. It's difficult for Teng to analyse statistics. _____
3. Bouth wasn't good at maths. _____
4. Teng liked to study French. _____
5. Teng wishes he had studied French harder. _____
6. Bouth's favorite subject was maths. _____
7. Bouth asked Teng for help. _____

5. Grammar note

I wish I had/hadn't + past participle

I wish I had studied harder. ຂ້ອຍເສຍດາຍທີ່ບໍ່ໄດ້ຕັ້ງໃຈຮຽນ.

I wish I hadn't ordered garlic pork ຂ້ອຍເສຍດາຍທີ່ສັ່ງໝູ່ຈີນກະທຽມ.

• ຄຳວ່າ wish ຈະແປໄດ້ຫຼາຍຢ່າງໃນພາສາລາວອີງຕາມເນື້ອໃນຂອງປະໂຫຍກນັ້ນໆ.

• ປະໂຫຍກນີ້ແມ່ນເວົ້າເຖິງຄວາມປາດຖະໜາ.

ຕົວຢ່າງ: I wish I were rich ຂ້ອຍປາດຖະໜາ ຢາກຮັ່ງມີ.

• ແຕ່ໃນປະໂຫຍກນີ້ສະແດງເຖິງຄວາມເສຍດາຍ.

• ຕົວຢ່າງ: I wish I had studied harder. ຂ້ອຍເສຍດາຍທີ່ບໍ່ໄດ້ຕັ້ງໃຈຮຽນ.

She wishes she had bought that shirt. ລາວເສຍດາຍທີ່ບໍ່ໄດ້ຊື້ເສື້ອໂຕນັ້ນ.

6. Write

Write sentences using wish.

Example:

When Mala was at school, she didn't play basketball.

She wishes she had played basketball.

1. She didn't learn English.

2. She didn't study music.

.....

3. She missed a lot of lessons.

.....

4. She left school when she was fourteen.

.....

5. She didn't learn how to swim.

.....

6. She didn't make many friends.

.....

7. What do you wish?

.....

7. Read and answer

Look at the two pie charts below, read the text below and answer the questions.

(a) An international school

(b) A Lao school

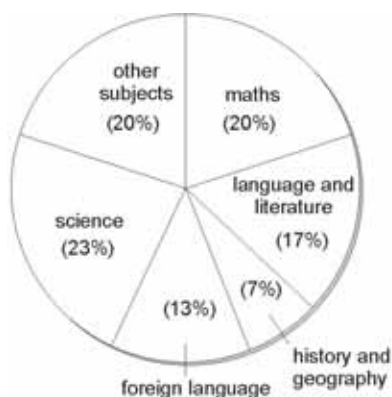

Chart (a) shows how much time is spent studying different subjects for one class at an international school. Chart (b) gives the same information for one class at a Lao school.

As you can see, both classes spend a lot of time on maths and science subjects. Students at the international school spend twenty percent of their time studying maths; the Lao schools spend eighteen percent of their time on maths. The international students spend nearly a quarter of their time on science subjects; science takes up one fifth of the Lao school curriculum.

Language note:

$\frac{1}{2}$ = half

$\frac{1}{4}$ = a quarter

$\frac{1}{5}$ = a fifth

$\frac{3}{4}$ = three quarters

$\frac{2}{5}$ = two fifths

nearly a quarter

more than half

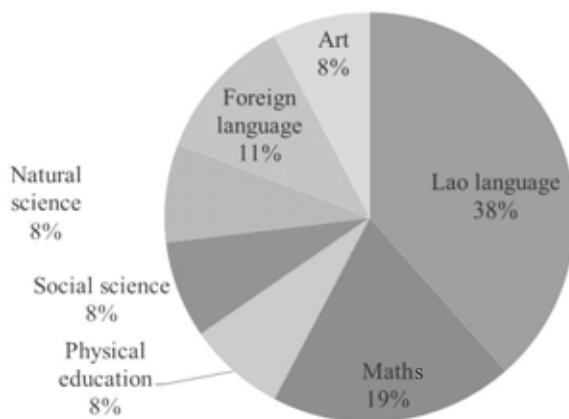

Questions:

1. What does chart (a) show?
.....
2. What does chart (b) show?
.....
3. What subjects do both classes spend the most of their time on?
.....
4. How much time does the international school take up on history and geography?
.....
5. How much time does the Lao school spend on history and geography?
.....
6. “Science takes up more than 20% percent in the international school”.
Is this statement true or false?

I think I can make more (3) _____, and I also think that the private sector is good for the (4) _____, if the private (5) _____ grows, the economy will be stronger."

4. Find

Find words or phrases in the texts that mean:

Example: opportunity

chance

1. a person who translates spoken language
2. in another country
3. develop
4. department of the university
5. complete

5. Speak

Work in a group of four. Tell your classmates about your future plan. Use Exercise 3 as an example.

6. Read and answer

Read Vonthong's letter and answer the questions.

Dear Mr Pennington,

I saw your announcement about scholarships in the Vientiane Times last week, and I am interested in it.

I am twenty-four years old. I graduated from the National University of Laos (Faculty of Education) two years ago, and I have been teaching English in Luang Namtha Secondary School since then. I would like to study in Australia to improve my knowledge of teaching English as a foreign language.

I enclose my resume. Could you please send me more details and an application form?

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours Sincerely,

(Ms) Vongthong Khamvong

Questions:

1. Who is writing this letter?

.....

2. What is Vongthong's postal address?

.....

3. What is her job?

.....

4. Where did she study before teaching at Luang Namtha Secondary School?
.....
5. How long has she worked at Luang Namtha Secondary School?
.....
6. Who is she writing to?
.....
7. Why is Vongthong writing the letter?
.....
8. What did she enclose with the letter?
.....

Language note:

Look at the diagram of a formal letter. Notice where all the parts are on that page.

The sender's address (but not the name) is at the top on the right.

The date is under the sender's Address.

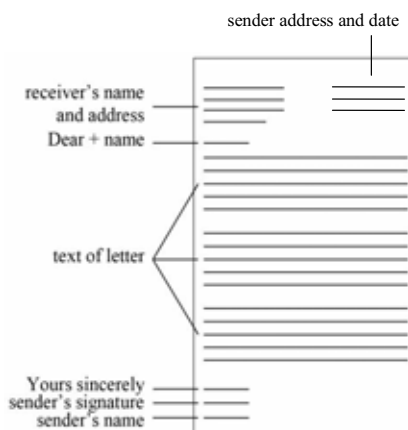

The name and address of the person you are writing to comes next, on the left.

All letters start with Dear + the name of the person you are writing to.

If you don't know the name, you can start with Dear Sir/Madam.

Finish the letters with Yours Sincerely, then your signature, then your name (write clearly).

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

3. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher, then practise the dialogue in pairs.

- Thongdy: Hi, Vansy. Where are you going?
 Vansy: I'm going downtown.
 Thongdy: Are you driving your own car?
 Vansy: Yes, I am.
 Thongdy: I think, it'd better to use public transport.
 Vansy: What's the problem if I drive my car?
 Thongdy: The traffic in downtown is always busy.
 Vansy: Really? What is the best transport I could use?

Thongdy: You could use a public bus, taxi or tuk-tuk.
 Vansy: OK. I'll go by bus and then take a tuk-tuk to a book shop.

4. Read and say

Take turns to read and say the following sentences.

1. During rush hours, the traffic is very crowded towns.
2. People are in a hurry all the time.

Road construction

The road construction is very expensive and harmful to the environment. When the road construction is planned, road engineers are working on the design. After having finished the design work, the engineers are calculating the cost of the construction. They are setting time, budget, and bidding processes. The engineering work of the construction is made very carefully and gives all details in order to give bidders as much information and data as possible before the bidding is made. A project manager is advertising on social media about the road construction to invite bidders. The bidding forms are being distributed to companies willing to participate in the bidding process.

The winning company is signing a contract with the project manager immediately after the bidding process is finished. The winning company is carrying out the work under the contract conditions. The site engineers, workers and all heavy machines, e.g., dump trucks, graders, bulldozers, tankers, and backhoes, are being sent to the site. When the heavy machines start to work they destroy the natural environment. They are clearing the road tracks by cutting down big trees, digging or filling up land, cutting slopes, building bridges or culverts across rivers or streams. Sometimes the tracks cut through rice fields and residential areas. The road construction to provide a road link for transportation could support economic growth; however, the trade-off between the losses and the gains before making decisions should have been made carefully during the design work.

A prudent driver

Kham always drives his car carefully and follows all traffic rules. Kham has been driving a car since he was in year 5 of Vientiane high school in 2000. After his father bought him a car, he learnt to drive in a driving school. He paid high attention to every lesson he learnt because he thought all of them were very important. After having a driving license, he began to drive his car to school. Before driving the car, he always checks the oil, water and brakes. After checking all those things, he starts the engine to warm up. While warming up the engine, he cleans inside the cabin of his car.

Kham is the best driver in his family and all his family members have confidence in him. He drives his car smoothly and runs within the speed limit. He always gives a signal light before turning his car. He drives prudently along the roads, both in downtown and countryside. When he drives past markets, schools and people gatherings, he slows down the speed and carefully drives on.

When he sees traffic lights, he strictly follows the lights. When the yellow light is on, he prepares to stop or to move on. When the red light is on, he stops his car every time. When the green light is on, he moves on. When traffic police want to check documents, he always cooperates with them. He talks to them politely and shows them all documents. Since Kham has been driving the car, he has never had accidents. He always checks his car before driving so his car never breaks down on the way to destinations. Kham also exchanges his driving experience with his family members and they always have confidence in his driving.

In brief, qualified drivers can be trained in driving schools that can include the above methods in their training lists.

6. Read and answer

Read the text below and answer the questions.

Roads for safety driving

In most developed countries, road designs are very important for safety driving. Well-designed roads can help save drivers lives. However, the construction costs of high standard roads are so expensive that many countries could not afford them. The high standard roads have "tone bands" impressed on the edges of the legal lanes, so that drowsing drivers are awakened by a loud hum while they are drifting off the edge of the roads. Tone bands are also referred to as "rumble strips," depending on the sound they created. An alternative method is the use of "Raised Rib" markings, which consists of a continuous line marking with ribs across the line at regular intervals. They were first authorized for use on freeways or motorways as an edge line marking to separate the edge of main lanes. The objective of the marking is to make the roadsides be seen clearly by motorists in both day and night times.

It also provides an audible, vibratory warning to motorists that their cars are swerving off the roads. When these standards are used in building roads, they can help reduce accidents on motorways. Truck drivers have confidence in using the motorways with these standards.

Questions:

1. What are important for safe driving?
.....
2. What can help to save drivers' lives?
.....
3. Why don't many countries build high standard roads?
.....
4. What do high standard roads have?

Unit 3 Holidays

Lesson 1 Holidays in Laos

In this lesson students learn about the holidays in Laos and the use of future “will”.

1. Vocabulary

Read and remember the meaning of the following words.

riverside	ແຄມນ້ຳ	diving	ດຳນ້ຳ
sunbathing	ຕາກແດດ	canoeing	ພາຍເຮືອຄະນູ
camping	ການໜັກແຮມຢູ່ໃນປ່າ	trekking	ຍ່າງເດີນທາງໄລຍະໄກ
cave exploring	ສຳຫລວດຖ້ຳ	art galleries	ຫ້ອງສະແດງສິນລະປະ

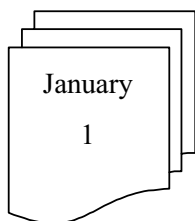

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

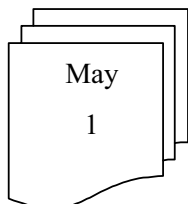

3. Look and write

Look at these important days in Laos and write what they are both in Lao and English.

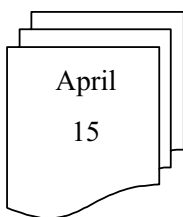

Example:

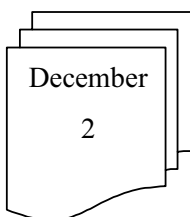

ປີໃຫມ່ສາກົນ
International New Year's Day

.....
.....

.....
.....

.....
.....

- Do you go to school on these days? Write more holidays that you know:

.....
.....
.....

4. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher then practise the conversation in pairs.

Tomorrow is a holiday. Thongdy, Maly and Khamta are talking about it (they haven't decided where to go for their holiday).

Thongdy: We won't have a class tomorrow. Where shall we go for our holiday?

Khamta: Well, we'll probably go to Maly's house. Her garden gate's broken. We'll help her to fix it.

Thongdy: That's a good idea. Maly, will you please offer us a papaya salad, chicken barbecue and bamboo soup?

Maly: Sure. I promise I'll do the cooking myself.

Khamta: Thongdy, what time shall we meet at Maly's house?

Thongdy: How about at 9:00 am?

Khamta: Maly, Is that a convenient time for you?

Maly: It's just the right time for me. By that time I'll be back from shopping.

Thongdy: Great. See you all tomorrow at 9:00 am.

Maly: Ok, see you then.

5. Grammar note

We use will ('ll) when we decide to do something at the time of speaking (the speaker has not decided before). We are not talking about arrangements or intentions.

Example:

I'm going to visit my friend this weekend. (ຜູ້ເວົ້າມີແຜນການໄວ້ກ່ອນແລ້ວ)

Tha : I have got a headache.

Chanh: Have you? Wait here. I'll get an aspirin for you.

(ຜູ້ເວົ້າຕັດສິນໃຈກັບທ່ານ)

The negative of will is won't (or will not)

We often use will in these situation:

• Promise:

Panda: Mum, if I get 10 on my maths test, will you take me out for ice-cream?

Mum: Yes, I'll take you out for ice-cream. I promise.

• Offers to help:

Sonevilay: I lost my ring.

Phong: No problem. I'll help you find it.

• Request for help:

Vongphet: I need to change the oil in my car. Will you help me?

Khan: Of course, I'll help you.

• Predictions about the future:

Tan: Some statistics predict that there will be around 10 billion people in the world by 2050.

Vern: I think they are right. There won't be enough food for everyone.

• Refusal of things

Vanh: I can't open this bottle of beer.

Da: Yeah. The cork won't come out.

❖ Do not use "shall" with he/she/it/you/they. The negative of shall is shan't (or shall not).

❖ Note that we use shall (not will) in the questions shall I...? and shall we...? (For offers, suggestions etc)

 - Where shall we go for our holidays?
 We often use will with these words and expressions: probably, (I'm) sure, (I) expect, (I) think.

6. Rearrange

Rearrange the words to make the correct response to each question.

Example: What will you do on the New Year's Day?

a/will/go/in /my/countryside/with/I/on/ picnic/the/family

I will go on a picnic with my family in the countryside.

1. What will you do on Pimai Lao?

a/will/ceremony/have/I/baci

.....

2. What will you do on Labour's Day?

built/new/my/will/help/father/I/to/fence/a

.....

3. What will you do on Women's Day?

classmates/with/a/I/have/my/party/will/small

.....

4. What will you do on Teachers' Day?

some/my/I/flowers/give/teachers/will

.....

5. What will you do on Lao National Day?

plant/my/home/I/mother/flowers/and/will/help/stay/to

.....

7. Read and write

Read the information about holidays.

Holidays

- The period when children are not at school is called the holidays or the vacation.
- A day when people don't work is a national holiday or public holiday.

- Festivals are special occasions which people celebrate by taking part in traditional activities.

Holiday activities

lakes and rivers	sunbathing, swimming, diving, fishing, canoeing, ...
mountains	walking, climbing, trekking, camping, cave exploring, ...
towns and cities	sightseeing, visiting temples, museums, art galleries, ...

Imagine that you will go on a holiday. Use the information above and the questions below to help you decide what to write.

What will you do on your school holidays?

Where will you go?

How will you get there?

Who will you go with?

What holiday activities will you do?

Where will you stay?

How long will you stay there?

Lesson 2 Holiday plans

In this lesson students learn to talk about their holiday plans.

1. Vocabulary

disappointed	ຜິດຫວັງ	spend	ໃຊ້ຈ່າຍ, ໃຊ້ເວລາ
planning to	ວາງແຜນຈະ	competition	ການແຂ່ງຂັນ
hoping to	ຫວັງວ່າຈະ	looking forward to	ຄອງຄອຍຖ້າ

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

3. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher, then practise the dialogue in pairs.

Keo: Have you got any plans for the school holidays?

Vieng: Well, I've got a few plans. I'm going to help my uncle in his shop, because my aunt is having a baby in a few weeks.

Keo: What will you do then?

Vieng: I'm going to visit some relatives out of town. Actually, I'm looking forward to relaxing a bit. What about you? What are you doing during your holidays?

Keo: I'm planning to stay with my grandparents in Sam Neua. I haven't been there since I was in primary school. They need some help around the house.

Vieng: How long will you stay there?

Keo : My brother and I are going there for two months.

Vieng: It's a pity! I thought we could see each other over the holiday and have some fun together.

Keo: That would be great. Not too worry. We can get together after the school break. Anyway, I'm not leaving for Sam Neua until next week. Why don't you come over to my house on Saturday? I've just got some new pop music cassettes.

Vieng: OK, I'd love to.

4. Read and answer

Take turns to read and answer these questions.

1. Has Vieng a plan for school holiday?
.....
2. What is she going to do?
.....
3. What is Keo planing to do?
.....
4. How long is she going to stay in Sam Neua?
.....
5. When is she going to leave Sam Neua?
.....

5. Grammar note

The present continuous with a future meaning: when you are talking about what you have already arranged to do, use the present continuous.

Example: A: Are you planning to go anywhere during your holidays?

B: I'm planning to visit my grandparents in Sam Neua.

I'm going to.....(+ verb) ຂ້ອຍຈະ

I'm hoping to.....(+ verb) ຂ້ອຍຫວັງວ່າຈະ

I'm planning to(+ verb) ຂ້ອຍວາງແຜນຈະ

I'm looking forward to..... ຂ້ອຍຄອງຄອຍຖ້າ

Looking forward to can be used with a noun, or with a verb-ing.

I'm looking forward to the holidays.

I'm looking forward to seeing my grandparents.

- Do not use will to talk about what you have arranged to do:
What are you doing this evening? (not what will you do)
Mina is getting married next month. (not Mina will get married.....).

6. Complete

Complete these sentences by choosing suitable words in the box.

are/looking	to help	going to planning/during	is hoping	forward to

1. Over the school holidays, Vieng is help her mother in her shop.
2. Vieng..... to visit some relatives during the school break.
3. Vieng is looking..... relaxing on the holidays.
4. Keo is to visit her grandparents in Sam Neua the holidays.
5. Keo is planning her grandparents around the house.
6. Vieng and Keo both forward to the school holidays.

7. Read and write

Read and make the questions to ask your friends.

- A. A friend of yours is planning to go on holiday soon. You ask him about his plans. Use the words in brackets to make your questions.

Example:

(where / go) Where are you going?

1. (how long / stay ?)
.....
2. (when / leave ?)
.....

3. (go / alone ?)

.....

4. (go / by car ?)

.....

5. (where / stay)

.....

B. Kham is going on holidays. You have to write sentences about her holiday plans. Use the words in brackets to write your sentences.

Example : (go / Pakse) She is going to Pakse.

1. (leave / next Friday)

.....

2. (stay / in Pakse for two days)

.....

3. (go / with a friend of hers)

.....

4. (stay / in a guesthouse)

.....

5. (go / by bus)

.....

8. Answer the questions

Answer these questions about yourself.

1. Are you planning to go anywhere during your holidays?

2. How are you going to spend your school holidays?

.....

3. When are you going to take your school holidays?

.....

4. How long are you going to stay on holidays?
.....
5. What are you going to do?
.....
6. Are you doing anything special over the holidays?
.....

9. Ask and answer

Take turns to ask and answer the questions from exercise 10 about holiday plans.

For example:

A: Are you planning to go anywhere during your holidays?

B: No, I'm staying at home. How about you?

A: Are you going to do anything special over the holidays?

B: Yes, I am. I'm hoping to compete in the girls' basketball competition.

10. Write

Write paragraphs about your holiday plans. Say where you are planning to go, and some things you are planning to do. Use going to, hoping to, planning to and looking forward to.

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

3. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher, then practise the dialogue in pairs.

Linda is working in Vientiane as a teacher. She's with some friends and students on the way to Vangvieng for a short holiday. It's lunch time and everyone is very hungry, so they stop at a restaurant.

Linda: Oh look! This restaurant's got a menu in English.

Joe : That's good for us. Let's order some drinks. I'm really thirsty.

Linda: OK. Let me see that menu. What would you like to drink?

Joe: I like cold Pepsi.

Linda: How about food? What would you like to order for lunch?

Joe: Well, I'll order grilled fish.

Linda: Do you like papaya salad?

Joe: Yes, I like papaya salad, too. You could have papaya salad with sticky rice and bamboo soup.

Linda: Oh, yes, I love bamboo soup. They also have papaya salad with barbecued chicken, dried beef and some drinks.

Joe: Well, Barbecued chicken and dried beef sounds good. Let's have papaya salad with barbecued chicken and sticky rice.
Tess: OK! Give our order to the attendant.

surround	ອ້ອມຮອບ	square kilometer (km ²)	ຕາຕະລາງກິໂລແມັດ
peaceful	ສະຫງົບສຸກ	friendly	ເປັນມິດ

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words in the box after the teacher.

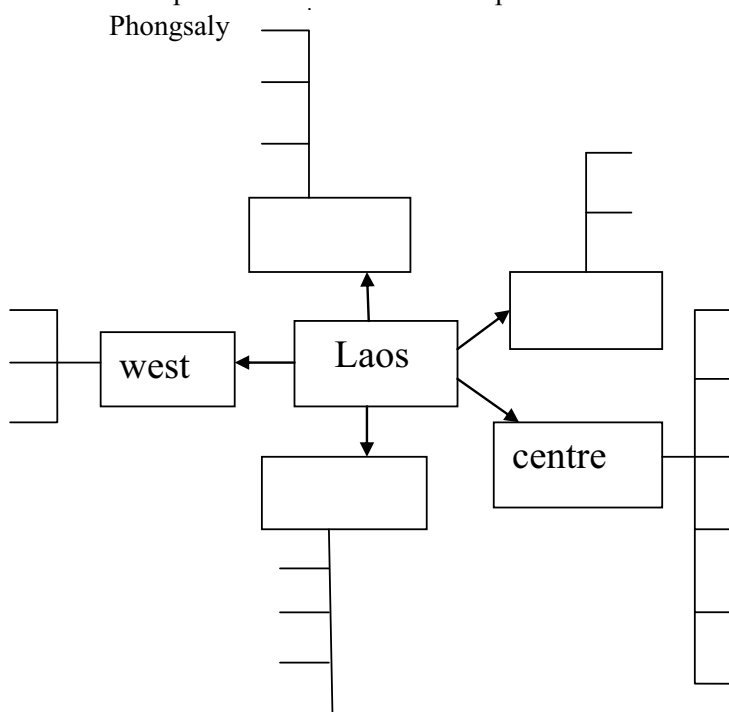

3. Look and say

A. Read the names of the provinces

Xiangkhouang	Bolikhamxay	Savannakhet
Sekong	Houaphan	Xayaboury
Luang Prabang	Phongsaly	Luangnamtha
Bokeo	Oudomxay	Khammouane
Salavan	Champasack	Attapeu
Vientiane Capital	Vientiane Province	Xaysomboun

C. Draw a mind map about the locations of the provinces in Laos.

4. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher. Then practise the dialogue in pairs.

Chan is at the conference in Brunei and he meets a new friend, Linda.

- Linda: Hi, Chan. I'm going to Laos next month for my holiday. I don't have much information about it. Where is it exactly?
- Chan: Well, Laos is in South-east Asia.
- Linda: What countries does Laos share borders with?
- Chan: In fact, Laos borders with five countries: China to the north, Myanmar to the north east, Vietnam to the east, Cambodia to the south and Thailand to the west. Will you go to all these countries?
- Linda: I don't think so. I'll go to Laos first; then I'll go to Thailand. Is it convenient to travel from Laos to Thailand?
- Chan: Well, There are a lot of border check points in Laos. There are two border check points in Vientiane Capital-one at Wattay Airport, the other on Mittaphap Bridge, where you can get a visa.
- Linda: Oh! That's wonderful my dear. Thanks for your information. It's really useful.
- Chan: You're welcome Linda.

5. Grammar note

-There is/are and have/has Both of them have the same meaning.

Example: There is a border check point in Khammouane province.

There are two border check points in Savannakhet.

Vientiane has two border check points.

6. Look and answer

Look at the map in exercise 3 and answer the questions.

1. How many provinces are there in the north of Laos? _____
2. How many provinces are in there the centre of Laos? _____
3. How many provinces are in there the west of Laos? _____
4. How many provinces are in there the south of Laos? _____
5. How many provinces are in there the east of Laos? _____

7. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

Luang Prabang

Luang Prabang is a big province in the north. It shares the border with Vietnam and there is one border check point. It also has borders with six provinces. The capital of Luang Prabang province is Luang Prabang city. Twelve different ethnic groups live in the province, and it has about 360,000 people. There are 12 districts, 796 villages and 63,582 households in the province.

This city is the old capital of Laos. It is on the Mekong and Khan rivers. Many people say it is very beautiful because it has many old and beautiful temples. Tourists like to visit the temples and the National Museum (old Royal Place). They also like to travel up river by boat to visit the Buddha caves.

People can go to Luang Prabang by plane, by boat or by car. From Vientiane, people can travel by car or bus on Road Number 13 North. They can also go by boat up the Mekong River or fly from Luang Prabang to Chiangmai in the north of Thailand.

1. Laos is surrounded by 5 countries.
2. It has borders with only Vietnam and Thailand.
3. Laos has a single dry season between May and September.
4. In the north of Laos, it is cooler during the winter season.
5. The weather seems to be humid during the dry season.

6. Read and complete

Choose the words from the box to complete the paragraph below.

season	hot	climate
distinct	cool	colorful
time	green	rainy

Laos generally enjoys a mild tropical (1), but it can get quite chilly in the cool (2)..... Temperatures range from 10-40 degrees Celsius in the Mekong Valley, and may dip below zero in the mountains and on the XiengKhouang and Bolaven plateaus. There are three (3) seasons: the (4) season from November to February, the (5)..... season from March to May and the (6)..... season which lasts from June to October. Most people find the best (7) to visit is from October to February. However, the low season offers lush (8) landscapes in the rainy season and the (9).....Lao New Year festivities in April

7. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

Two distinct seasons

Laos has two distinct seasons - the wet and the dry.

The wet season in Laos runs from around May to October, and as with many Southeast Asian countries, the wet season is characterized by a downpour for a few hours each day rather than all-day. During wet season, the land transportation in Laos can be slow and soggy.

On the upside, boat transport comes into its own during the great wet. Rivers are high so the slow boats can make better pace. Along the Mekong River many of the rapids are submerged, helping the slow boats with their deeper drafts, but if you're considering a speedboat trip, be warned that the heavy rainfall brings a lot of refuse into the river.

The dry season in Laos has two distinct sub-sections -- first comes the cool dry season and then comes the hot dry season -- the former is one of the most popular times to visit Laos. The cool dry season runs from November to February and the hot dry season from March to April. What makes the hot season even more unbearable is the smoke factor -- from March to May farmers set fire to rice stubble and mildly degraded forest to improve soil fertility in preparation for a new rice crop.

In summary, the dry season runs from November to April. November to February is cooler while March and April are blisteringly hot. April is the hottest month.

Wet season runs from May to October, though it may start a little early in a couple of northern provinces in Laos. August is the wettest month.

Answer these questions

1. How many distinct seasons are there in Laos?
.....
2. What is land transportation like during wet season in Laos?
.....
3. What are the two distinct sub sections for dry season in Laos?
.....
4. How long does the cool dry season last?

3. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher. Then practise the dialogue in pairs.

John spends a holiday in Laos and meets his friend, Thada.

Thida: When did you arrive in Vientiane?

John: Yesterday evening. Anyway, Thida, I would like to have a holiday in other provinces. Could you tell me where I should visit?

Thida: I think Luang Prabang or Champasack provinces are the best places to visit in Laos. These provinces are world heritage sites. Luang Prabang was declared in 1996 and Watphou Champasack, in 2001.

John: How can I get there?

Thida: Champasack is in the south; you can go by bus, van or plane. If you go Luang Prabang by plane, it'll take about you one hour. If you go by bus, it'll take about 8-10 hours.

John: How long does it take to get to Luang Prabang by bus?

Thida: It usually takes about 8 hours, but sometimes it takes longer in the rainy season.

John: It's difficult to decide, but I think I'll go to Luang Prabang this time and next time I'll go to Champasack.

4. Match

A. Match the places of tourist sites under the right pictures.

9. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

The rocket festival

Traditionally the rocket festival is held in the sixth Lunar month (around May or June) and it is believed to bring rains so that rice planting can begin. Celebrations typically take two to three days and include music and dance performances, competitive procession of floats, dancers, musicians, and culminate on the third day with competitive firings of home -made rockets. Large bamboo rockets are built and decorated by monks and villagers and carried in procession before being blasted skywards to let the rain god Phayathaen know it is time to send the rains. The higher a rocket goes, the bigger the praise for its builder. Designers of failed rockets are thrown in the mud or pond. Many villages get together in an outlying area to fire these huge rockets into the sky, while those on the ground celebrate by drinking, singing and dancing. It is a great fun day out for all, although it can get a bit raucous and unruly at times.

Questions

1. When is the rocket festival held?

John meets Keo at the coffee shop.

John: This coffee tastes so good. Is this brand made in Laos?

Keo: Yes, this is Lao coffee.

John: Oh, that's Interesting. Where is it planted?

Keo: In Paksong on Bolaven Plateau. The land is highly fertile with a cool wet climate.

John: That's why it is suitable for growing coffee.

Keo: Yes.

John: How do you know about coffee plantation so well?

Keo: I used to help my family to cultivate land and grow coffee.

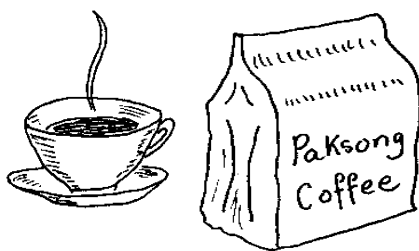

Jonh: What a surprise!

4. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

Growing up on a coffee plantation

I grew up in Paksong, a small town to the east of Pakse city in Champasak Province. My family still lives there. Paksong is on the Bolaven Plateau, which is highly fertile with a cool wet climate, suitable for growing coffee. Most people who live there get their incomes from growing coffee.

I remember when I was young, I used to work hard. I helped my family to cultivate land and grow crops, especially coffee. I still remember how we established the coffee plantation.

First we prepared a field for growing seedlings. We cut down small trees and bushes, but we left the big trees to stop the soil from becoming too dry. After that, we sowed the seeds in the prepared soil. Next, we prepared the plantation area. We cleared the land of all trees and bushes. We planted the seedlings in rows of about two metres apart. We had twenty hectares of coffee plantation in the mountains. At that time, coffee was grown in the traditional way. The plants grew without fertilizers or other chemicals. We simply weeded and hoed the soil.

After seven years, we had our first harvest of coffee beans. About eighty percent of our income came from coffee production every year after that.

Coffee is a major agricultural export item for Lao PDR, which is one of the few coffee growing countries in Southeast Asia. Many people in Paksong are returning to coffee growing.

Questions:

1. Where is Paksong?
.....
2. How do most people in Paksong make a living?
.....
3. What kind of weather is the best for growing coffee?
.....
4. How long does it take before coffee beans can be harvested?
.....
5. Is coffee-growing increasing or decreasing in Paksong? Why?
.....

5. Grammar note

Passive voice

The passive voice is often used in formal writing or speech. We use it when who or what causes the action is unknown or not very important.

What happened or will happen is more important. For example:

(Active): The war destroyed some coffee plants.

(Passive): Some coffee plants were destroyed (by the war).

The passive is used because what were destroyed is more important than who or what destroyed them.

The passive can be used in all tenses.

Present simple: am / is / are + past participle,

e.g. Lao coffee is exported to many countries.

Past simple: was / were + past participle,

e.g. Coffee plants were destroyed by war.

Present perfect: has been / have been + past participle,

e.g. The land has been developed for coffee-growing.

6. Rearrange

Rearrange the words to make correct sentences and rewrite them as passive sentences.

Example:

seedlings / a field / for growing / We / prepare

- We prepare a field for growing seedlings.

- A field is prepared for growing seedlings.

1. from becoming / the taller trees / leave / to stop the soil / too dry/ We

5. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions

Farm animals

Farm animals in this section, are featuring just some of the animals that reside on the farm. You can find lots of interesting animal information about your favourite farm animals. You can discover and learn what life is like on the farm for sheep, pigs, cows, buffaloes, goats, ducks, chickens and horses.

Farm animals are bred for many purposes. Chickens give us eggs. Buffaloes, cows and goats provide us with nutritious milk and meat. Different breeds of sheep produce many kinds of wool fibers which are made into clothing. Pigs provide us with bacon and pork. Horses are used as working animals, sports and leisure activities.

However, all these animals are not just there to provide us with materials, aid and provisions. They also make wonderful pets, which give us years of pleasure and devotion.

Read the text and answer true or false. If it is false, give the correct answer.

1. In this text, we are talking about animals living on the farm.

extraction equipment		ເຄື່ອງມືສະກັດ

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

3. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

Irrigation

All crops need water to grow. In many areas natural rainfall does not provide enough water, so irrigation is used to water the fields artificially. With irrigation, it is possible to use much more land to increase the amount of food that the land can produce.

Irrigation has been used for thousands of years. The Egyptians were irrigating land around the Nile River seven thousand years ago. The Chinese has been using irrigation for more than four thousand years. Since 1800 the amount of irrigated land in the world has increased from about 8 million hectares to about 222 million hectares. Today, China and India have more land with irrigation systems than any other countries to feed their huge populations.

Irrigation can also cause problems, however. Rain water does not contain any salt, but all irrigation water contains some. Over the years, the amount of salt in the soil slowly increases, and this damages the crops. Irrigated land needs to have good drainage so that the salt can be washed out of the soil.

Questions:

1. What do crops need?
.....
2. Why is irrigation used to water the fields?
.....
3. How is it possible to use much more land?
.....
4. How long has the irrigation been used?
.....
5. When did the Egyptian use irrigation?
.....
6. How much has the amount of irrigated land in the world increased?

General education in Laos

General education in Laos consists of pre-school, primary school and secondary school. Most children in Laos start their education at about three years old when they enter pre-school. Pre-school takes three years to prepare children for primary school. Children study at primary school from about six to eleven years old- a total of five years. Primary education is compulsory in Laos. After finishing primary school, they go to secondary school, which takes seven years to finish- four years for lower secondary school and three years for upper secondary school. Normally, students complete their general education at the age of about eighteen years old. Students who pass the final exam in secondary school receive a secondary school certificate.

Students who can pass the entrance examination can continue their education after secondary school. The highest level of education is university- this takes four to six years. Students who do not want to go to university can go to vocational or technical schools, which take three years. Another option is vocational hands-on training for a particular job.

4. Write

Living in Big Cities

Most people in our world believe that it is better to live in big cities than to live in small villages, and this belief further gives rise to a trend where large numbers of village people migrate to big cities. This trend can be easily seen in most parts of the world, as the pollutions in big cities has increased. Mostly people come to big populous cities because they find it very easy to get good earning opportunities, whereas villages fail in providing adequate earning potentials for their people. Moreover, in cities, there is more demand for services, thus creating more job opportunities for a large number of people. However, there are a number of other issues which we mostly ignore, due to earning compulsions. Though big cities provide a good potential of earning to a large number of people, they also cause some disadvantages. Some of these things are highlighted below.

- Lack of open and hygienic housing facilities for the people in big cities because large numbers of these migrants can only afford to live in small and unhygienic conditions.
- Scarcity of pure water and air, as most of big cities of the world are polluted very badly.
- High level of noise pollutions in big cities as compared to small villages which create lot of physical and mental health problems to people.
- Higher traffic on the roads, increasing the chances of fatal accidents and problems in travelling, less quality time for oneself and family, less opportunity to commune with nature and appreciate its beauty.

Khamsone sells food at the market. She usually wraps her food in banana leaves, but Davanh uses plastic bags.

Davanh: You know, people do not use banana leaves to wrap food nowadays. Why do you still use them?

Khamsone: Well, I've always used banana leaves. I don't see any reasons to change it.

Davanh: But banana leaves are expensive – plastic bags are much cheaper.

Khamsone: Yes, I agree. Luckily, I grow banana plants in my garden, so I don't have to buy them.

Davanh: I think plastic bags are much more convenient. My customers like them too.

Khamsone: That may be true, but look at this street! It's so messy, plastic bags are everywhere. They will stay there forever if people don't pick them up, unlike banana leaves. If leaves are thrown along the street, they will disappear and become natural fertilizer after a few years.

Davanh: Yes, I think you're right.

Burning rubbish

Burning rubbish is common cause of air pollution. This has a harmful effect on people's health.

In the past, most people used to burn garden rubbish. This did not cause any serious damage to people's health. Nowadays, however, there is a lot of plastic in household rubbish. When plastic is burnt, it produces poison called dioxin, which can cause cancer and skin disease. Many people still burn their rubbish. Some people are too lazy to put their rubbish out for collection, and some people may not know that burning plastic is dangerous to health.

Local authorities are trying to reduce the burning of rubbish. Vientiane Capital, for example, sends trucks to collect rubbish every day. Other ideas have been suggested to help solve this problem. One idea is an awareness campaign, telling people about the dangers of burning some types of rubbish. Another idea is an “anti-pollution day”, which could raise awareness of the importance of a clean and healthy environment.

Somephone: How do you do?
Yamane: What is your name?
Somephone: My name is Somephone.
Yamane: Nice to meet you Somephone.
I am Yamane, from Tokyo, Japan. Where are you from?
Somephone: I am from Laos.
Yamane: Where is Laos?
Somephone: It's bordered by Thailand, Vietnam, Myanmar, and Cambodia.
Yamane: Oh, really? What is the total population of Laos?
Somephone: It's around 7 million estimated in July 2009 and will be around 8 million in 2020.
Yamane: Is the population of Laos increasing every year?
Somephone: Yes, it is. But it isn't very high each year.
Yamane: What is the growth rate of Lao population?
Somephone: It's 2.32 % estimated in 2009. And what is the total population of Japan?
Yamane: It's 127.6 million, estimated in 2009

Note: 2.320 = two point three two, zero.

2,320 = two thousand three hundred and twenty.

6. Read and answer

Read the text and then answer the questions below.

The population

Since the last census taken in July 2009, the population of Laos was estimated at about 6,834,345(six million eight hundred thirty four thousand three hundred and thirty five) and it was rated as the 102nd rank of the world population. The population is increasing at an average of 2.4 % (2009, est.) each year. It is estimated that if Laos continues to grow at its current rate, the population will almost double in the next 25 years.

The growth rate is a factor in determining how great a burden would be imposed on a country by the changing needs of its people for infrastructure, resources, and jobs. Most Lao people live in valleys of the Mekong River and its tributaries. The average population density is 26 people per square kilometer, giving Laos the lowest population density in Asia. The highest population in Laos is in Vientiane municipality, with more than 150 people per square kilometer, while the lowest population density is in Xaysomboun Province, at 8 per square kilometer.

As life expectancy at birth is 55 years, only a small fraction of the population is over 60 years old and almost half of the remaining population is under the age of 15.

There are about 49 ethnic groups in Laos with 4 main linguistic families that are found all across Laos, with each comprising their own culture and tradition. These groups can be classified into three different groups: Lao Theung, Lao Soung and Lao Loum.

Questions:

1. What was the population of Laos estimated in 2009?

Lao economic growth projection

(Source: Vientiane Times: 08-04-2010)

The implementation of the government policy shifting from a centrally planned economy to a market oriented financial system in 1986, allowing the private sector to play a role in the development of the national economy. Lao economy continues to grow gradually. The World Bank released its East Asia and Pacific Economic Update for 2010 projecting Lao economic growth to reach 7.7 percent (%) this year, the third fastest rate in East Asia after Indonesia and China.

According to the World Bank (WB), natural resources and tourism industry will remain the major driving forces behind the economic growth in Laos. Hydropower dam and mining expansions are expected to contribute about 3.6 percent of total economic growth.

According to the WB, Lao fiscal growth reached 6.7 % in 2009, the second highest in East Asia after China. The bank said that the strong growth was due to stable demand for Lao mining products in China. The World Bank urged the Lao government to focus on breaking into manufacturing and becoming part of global production chain to ensure sustainable economic growth in the future.

Recently, the government is aiming to maintain the economic growth at 7.5 % in the 2009-2010 fiscal years, after reaching 7.6 % in the previous year. Stable economic growth will assist its efforts to move Lao from the least developed nations group by 2020.

My village

Most people in my village are farmers. They earn their living by growing rice, and vegetables and raising animals. The village has been developed quite a lot in the last thirty years. Houses, roads, living conditions, farming conditions, other facilities, including hygiene systems have been improved and changed a lot, now.

30 years ago

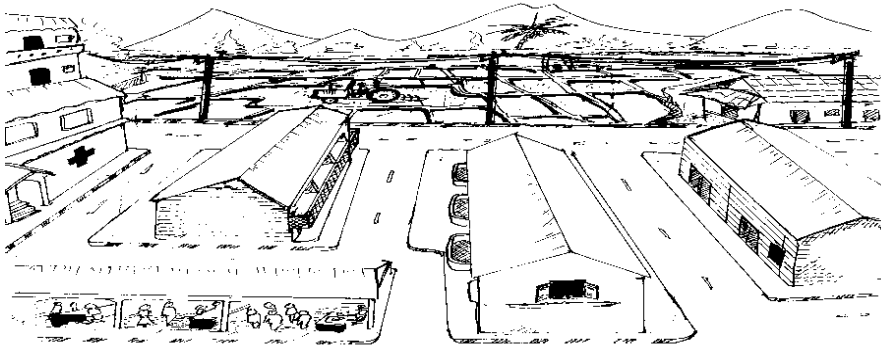

My village now

Today, farmers use machines for rice farming. Also new methods for growing crops and raising animals have been introduced to them. Irrigation systems have been constructed in the village so farmers can grow rice and raise animal in both wet and dry seasons. New roads have been built, which provides easier access to the delivery of the crops to market places.

In the next 10 years

In the next ten years, there will be more development in the village. People will earn more money and build new houses. They will have more food to eat and will be able to buy more things. Roads will be repaired and new ones will be built in the village, and travelling will be more comfortable and convenient. According to the plans of village authorities, a new hospital, school buildings, a market and a stupa will be built in the next few years. Electricity and water systems will be improved and supplied to all houses soon.

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

3. Pre – reading

Read and answer the questions.

What wild animals are there in Laos?

Do you know what they are called in English?

Why do some people hunt them?

Have you ever eaten any wild animals?

4. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

Endangered animals

All over the world, many beautiful and unusual animals have become extinct, and many more of them are in danger of becoming extinct for a variety of reasons.

One endangered animal is the elephant. Hunters kill elephants for their ivory tusks. Ivory is used to make decorations and jewelry. Tigers are also in danger of becoming extinct.

In 1998, it was estimated that there were only about 2,000 tigers left in the wild. Hunters kill them for their fur and their bones. The rhinoceros is one of the rarest animals in the world. Rhinoceros horns and tiger bones are used in traditional Chinese medicine, and can be sold for very high prices. Another animal in danger is the panda. It is only found in China and it eats a special kind of bamboo. When forests are cut down, the pandas have nowhere to live and their natural food source is destroyed.

Whales are hunted for both meat and oil. In some parts of the world, Japan for example, people pay a lot of money for whale meat. Dolphins are mainly found in the sea and some kinds of dolphins are in danger of extinction. The main reason is that dolphins get caught accidentally in fishing nets which are used to catch tuna and other fish.

In Laos, deer, pheasant and wild peacock are becoming endangered. These animals have been traditionally hunted for centuries with no problems, but now their numbers are declining. The animals are hunted for their meat, which is popular in Laos. Some restaurants around the country even specialize in serving meat from wild animals.

In the south of Laos, there is a rare kind of freshwater dolphin called the Pakha. It is already almost extinct. There are only a few hundred left. Their natural habitat (the Mekong river) has become polluted, and over-fishing has reduced their food supply. The Pakha may disappear forever over the next few decades.

At present, all of these animals are endangered and some of them will definitely become extinct in the near future. What will we say to our children when they ask why there are no tigers left in the world? Or why ivory was so important that we killed all the elephants?

Questions:

1. Why are tigers valuable?

2. Why is the panda in danger of extinction?

3. What is the main danger for sea dolphins?

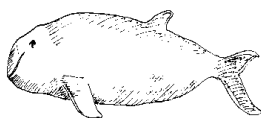

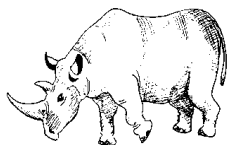

4. Give two reasons why the Pakha may disappear soon?

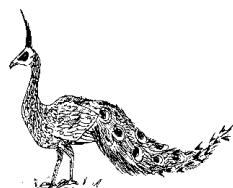

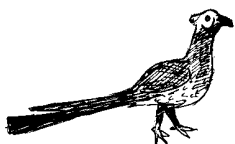

5. What is the most valuable part of the rhinoceros? Why?

6. Why are wild animals hunted in Laos?

5. Read and arrange

Read the text in Exercise 4 again and arrange the pictures in correct order.

6. Speak

In group of 6-9 conduct a role play: some students represent endangered animals (tigers, elephants....) 1-2 students are hunters, and 1-2 students are working for wild population protection agency. Create the situation how to protect the endangered animals.

3. Listen and practise

Listen and repeat after the teacher. Then practice the dialogue in pairs.

Chanh: What' up in the news?

Keo: Hunters in Houayxai district gave their rifles to local authorities because they want to conserve wild animals.

Chanh: That's the right thing to do!

Keo: Yes. They are aware that preserving the forest is important because natural forests are tourist attractions and will bring (a good income) into the area.

Chanh: Any other villagers' participation?

Keo: Villagers have been trained in forest security because they need to protect the forest from poachers.

Chanh: That's a good programme!

4. Pre-reading

Read and answer these questions.

Have you ever seen any wild animals in the forest?

What kind of animals have you seen?

Where have you seen them?

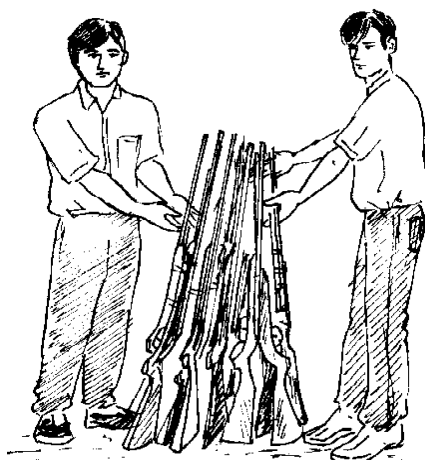

5. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

Wildlife conservation

The villagers of Ban Toup, Houayxai district, have decided to give their traditional hunting rifles to the local authorities. This will help create a protected area around NamKan- Nam Nga.

This happy event is the result of negotiations between various government departments, local authorities, the villagers and the Forespace Forest project team. All these groups are working in the Nam Kan protected area to preserve the forest and encourage eco-tourism. Wildlife conservation is a very important part of the program.

The hand-over of the rifles is important because it shows rural support to stop illegal hunting. In Bokeo, the action is part of a long-term plan to create an area of pristine forest which will be opened to tourists and scientists who want to study and experience the amazing bio-diversity of Laos.

Forespace has plans to create a tree-top walk-way that will show the secrets of the forest to visitors. Forespace has been training villagers in forest security as part of their scheme to protect wildlife .Villagers from local tribes have volunteered to become members of a forest guard team which protects the area from poachers. The team also records wildlife including monkeys, birds and large mammals, and collects other information that can be used to protect the environment.

Questions:

1. Who have decided to give their traditional hunting rifles to the local authorities?

2. Listen and repeat

Listen and repeat the words from the vocabulary box after the teacher.

3. Listen and practice

Listen and repeat after the teacher. Then practice the dialogue in pairs.

John: I've read from the newspaper that there is a high slash and burn practice in the northern part of Laos.

Keo: Yes, it used to be like that. But now the government has the law over forest protection.

John: That's a good deal. Cutting trees may cause natural disaster like flood.

Keo: I can't agree more.

John: Is timber still the main export product for commercial purpose?

Keo: No. Now the government has control over deforestation. There is also a reforestation plan to replant trees in the vulnerable areas.

John: Well done.

4. Pre-reading

Read and answer the questions.

Which areas of Laos are heavily forested?

In which parts of the world, are forests being destroyed?

Why do you think this is happening?

5. Read and answer

Read the text and answer the questions below.

Twenty years ago, one third of the total land area in Asia was covered by green forest. These forests were rich in thousands of kinds of plants and animals. Now however, because of deforestation, many of these areas have become arid and it's getting worse all the time. This has destroyed the habitat of many rare animals and is also a cause of natural disasters, such as floods. To slow down the destruction of forest, most Asian countries have introduced laws to protect them. Many countries have signed international agreements to conserve their forests. Thailand, Sri Lanka and Cambodia have all designated more than 10% of their land as protected areas. China, India, Indonesia, Vietnam and the Philippines have all started large-scale reforestation programs.

In Lao PDR, the government encourages people to protect forests and to plant as many trees as possible. Plantations have been established to produce timber for commercial purposes. This makes a profit for the timber companies, provides employment for local people, and helps the Lao economy to grow. It also reduces the need to cut timber from the natural forest.

Questions:

1. What has happened to Asian forests during the last twenty years?

2. Name two bad effects of deforestation.

3. What has Sri Lanka done to protect its forests?

4. Give two good reasons for establishing timber plantations.

5. What did you do to protect forest?

6. Match

Match English words with their Lao translations.

Namfonh: CV is an abbreviation form of curriculum vitae. Where do you find CV?

Sunny: I find it on the list of job application form and CV is part of it.

Namfonh: Are you applying for a job?

Sunny: Yeah! I am seeking a part-time job because I need to earn some money by myself.

Namfonh: I think it is a good idea to start working, as we will graduate next month.

Sunny: Could you help me writing my CV and checking my form?

Namfonh: Yes, of course. Your CV must cover three main areas, namely personal information, educational background, and work experience.

Sunny: What is personal information?

Namfonh: This first part of your CV must include title, gender, name, date of birth, place of birth, marital status, permanent address, and other information related to yourself.

Sunny: What should I mention about my education?

Namfonh: You must mention names of schools, college or university with the year of completion, and your major study.

Sunny: How about work experience? Are there any things that I can include?

Namfonh: In this part, you should talk about your last positions and the working period. I mean when did you start working and stop working.

Sunny: Unfortunately, I have never worked before, so there is nothing I can include in this part.

Namfonh: I suggest that you mention your English proficiency and computer skills which will be your advantages.

Tips for interviews

When you apply for a job, it is important to keep in mind that in interviews, application forms and curriculum vitae are equally important in the selection process. A job interview is normally the last stage of the selection process and only short-listed candidates are invited to have an interview. Candidates who are contacted for the interviews need to be prepared in order to do well during the interview.

Here are some tips and general practice that should be applied during the interview. An interview always begins with the greeting session, which normally takes approximately ten seconds. Then it is time for either interviewers or interviewees to briefly introduce themselves. After the greeting and the introduction, is usually the main part of the interview. This third part is the most important, which normally covers educational background, work experience, and other relevant issues related to the information within the CV and application form. It is crucial to prepare answering “WH questions” like what, when, where, why, who, which and how. For example, what did you do in your previous organization? What was your last salary? What salary do you propose if you work in our company? etc. In order to answer well, the candidates should answer the same and relevant information as it has been filled in the application form and CV.

There are many other things that candidates need to remember before going to the interview. Firstly, candidates should dress appropriately because dressing well and looking good can impress the interviewers. Secondly, it is important to keep eye contact with them during the interview. Another last important thing to note is that you need to apply for jobs in many different organizations at the same time. The reason is that you will have more chances to get a job if you apply for more than one organization.

Economic Development

In most countries in the world, governments have made their economic plans to bring their countries out of poverty and provide happy lives for their people. In Laos, the government shifted economic policy from a central planned economy to a market oriented economy in 1986. In conjunction with the new policy, the government also opened the door to welcome foreign investors. Since then the private sector has played important roles in the growth of Lao economy. Foreign investment has increased in multiple of service and manufacturing sectors. A number of banks and tourist agencies have been established in big cities throughout Laos. The number of garment factories has increased rapidly since the labour cost in Laos is lower than in other countries in the region. As Laos is a landlocked country with 60% of land as mountains. This provides sources of water for hydropower dams. The Lao government takes this special geographical formation of the land to invest in hydropower dams for local consumption and exportation to neighbouring countries. Now the exportation of electricity has become the major revenue of the Lao government. As a result, the growth rate of Lao economy has increased gradually. According to the World Bank, the average growth rate of Lao economy is 7% a year. However, the economic growth has aligned with the destruction of the environment; every government should consider the losses and the gains before making a decision to invest in economic development.

Question:

1. Why do most governments in the world make their economic plans?
.....
2. What policy did the Lao government shift from?
.....
3. What did the Lao government do in conjunction with its new policy?
.....
4. Which sector has played major roles under the new policy?
.....
5. What does the Lao government do to benefit from the special geographical formation of its country?
.....
